SEPTEMBER 2025

We believe great design and great products should be available without compromising quality and values.

Working with timeless premium materials striving to create products that push us in new directions and toward the material technical envelopes. Opinord products are generally intended to be powerful, so they can stand alone or be integrated into a context in someones home.

ABOUT

The philosophy that drives us

We are passionate about crafting furniture for customers around the world. We believe great design and great products should be available without compromising quality and values.

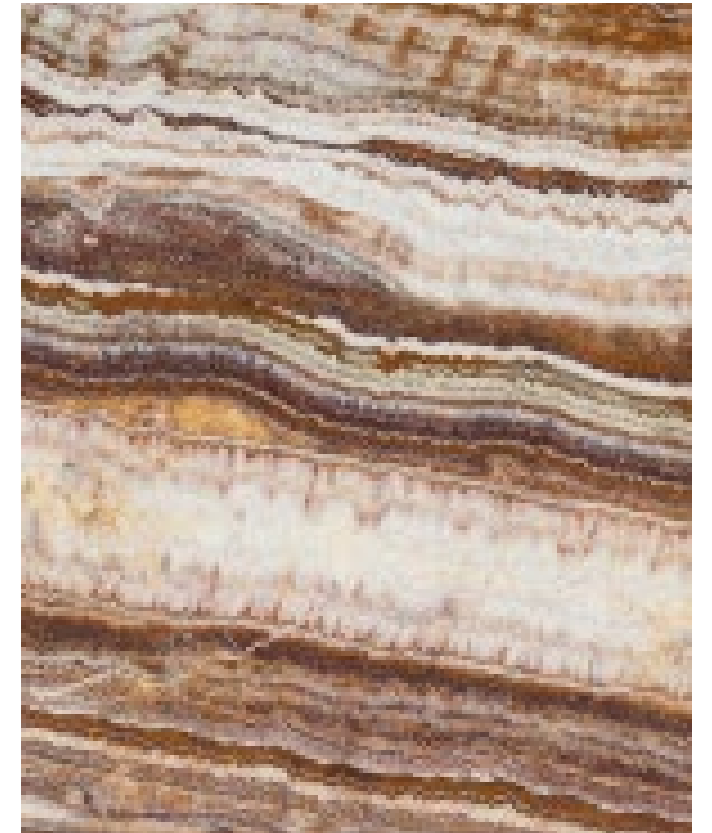

By blending our Scandinavian heritage and design fundamentals with global trends, we create furniture that is not only timeless and durable but also suitable for a wide customer base.

One thing that makes Opinord stand out, is our comprehensive customer support throughout the design and production period. From initial concept to market launch, we provide support tailored to the customers business needs, streamlining the visual process and minimizing time to market.

To ensure successful and efficient delivery, we have developed our own packing standard and drop tests to fit the materials we use and the level of protection that is expected by our customers. The standards have been incrementally improved over time, to fit the changing needs of logistics and the different types of supply chains used by our customer base around the world.
